DIVIDEND, JAN'Y 1, 1868,
FORTY PER CENT UPON ALL POLICIES THAT have been in force four years and payable on the anniversaries of the renewals of said policies.

This Company in declaring its Dividend, do so upon THE PERCENTAGE SYSTEM thus each insurer, WHETHER HE BE A RICH MAN OR A POOR MAN, A PROMINENT CITIZEN OR AN HUMBLE CITIZEN, SHARES ALIKE.

PREMIUM SYSTEM.

CASH, WHEN REQUIRED. NOTES ARE, HOWEVER, TAKEN to accommodate the insurer in paying his Premiums thus showing the confidence of the Company in the ability to declare Dividends that will eventually Cancel the Notes.

How different this is from a Cash Company who exact all Cash under the plea that it is unsafe to grant this indulgence to a policy holder, when he is unable to pay his renewal premium.

REMEMBER
That the "OLD MANHATTAN never assumes or promises Extravagant Dividends to induce insurers to come and insure with them. Their Dividends in the past have always been equal to all well managed and first-class Companies, and they can offer the people in the future no better evidence of the future. It never vilifies the character of other Companies to accumulate business. THE MANHATTAN'S best insurers are its best advocates. The business of the Company is conducted with

ECONOMY!

This is an evidence of careful management and a promise of Large Dividends in future.

From the following table, taken from the New York Insurance Reports of 1867, it will be seen that our percentage of expenses to receipts are very much less than any Companies enumerated below

Expenses on each $100 of Receipts

Northern Pacific Railroad.

COMMUNICATION FROM PHILIP RITZ OF WALLA WALLA TO THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Having been a resident of Washington Territory and of Oregon for seventeen years, and having passed over the different routes between the Atlantic and Pacific several times, I have from personal observation obtained much information respecting the resources, wealth, and climate of the country intervening, and many items which have never been embodied in any report, and which may be of service to those in the East who know comparatively little of that country now so rapidly settling. I propose to lay before you, briefly the results of my examination, trusting they may give some new light upon the subject of the Northern Pacific Railroad, which is all important to the development of the territory lying north of the 45th parallel.

Since the discovery of the rich gold and silver mines in Montana and the commencement of the Union Pacific road, the entire aspect of the interior of our country has changed. The progress of that interior within the last two years has been greater than its whole previous progress, and now, as there have within the last few months been great lines of mail steamships established between this country and China, the trade will increase beyond all calculation on the Pacific coast.

So rapidly are the resources of our interior being developed and our commerce increasing on the Pacific, that within a very short time, almost before the road on the Central route can be completed, it will be found that one road will not be able to do the amount of business that will offer. The idea that prevailed a few years since, before the question of the Pacific railroad was as well understood as it now is, that not more than one road across the continent could be sustained, is fast being exploded.

The country really needs three grand trunk lines, and will eventually build and sustain them—the Southern, the Central, and the Northern. And that there will be no antagonism between the roads, in reference to way travel, is evident, as each road will drain a wide extent of country bordering on it, as in the case of the Northern and Central, the distance apart from San Francisco to Puget Sound being 800 miles, and running nearly parallel, probably the nearest point of approach being Cadotte's Pass and Bear river, distant about 300 miles: so that, if the interme diate population is simply a pastoral one, to say nothing of the rich gold, silver, copper, lead, nickel, iron and coal mines, known to exist along and between each line, the country would, when thus settled up, afford a population to the running mile of road greater than the way population of any road in the United States. The small portion of the Central road that is now completed, is paying very largely, and is increasing rapidly.

With the completion of these great lines across the continent, there would be access furnished to millions of acres of the public domain, on which would be erected hundreds of thousands of happy homes in the interior of our country, all the way from the Gulf of Mexico to the forty ninth parallel, and would draw large numbers of the population away from the crowded cities of the Atlantic, where, in many instances, they do not find a support without the assistance of charity, to where they could find cheap homes and plenty to do in furnishing food for the millions who would then settle in our mountains, and work out the mines with machinery, which, if these roads were not built, must remain untouched for ages.

I believe that, if the three roads were now built, that within ten years there would be gold and silver enough taken out of the mountains to pay off the national debt. It is also the opinion of many of our wisest and most comprehensive statesmen with whom I have conversed, that it would be wise policy for the Government at the present time to assist directly—at once to build these roads, in order to render available the great extent of our public domain, now inaccessible in the interior of our country.

It is manifest that one road is not equal to the public need, and would be unjust to the people of the country. If three roads were built it would be more to the interest of the Government to see the three roads than it would be if but a single road was built. If but one road is built, to wit, over the Central line, the Government would still be obliged to provide for the transportation of its mails and munitions of war over the northern and southern routes, which are already a very important item, as in the mails, from Chicago to Montana.

With these general remarks I will now offer a brief account of my observations on the northern route, particularly the Rocky Mountain portion, having travelled thoroughly over it at four different times within the last two years, twice in mid winter. In the first place, commencing at Puget Sound, we find there an immense inland sea, perfectly land locked, and safe from storms, and always free from ice and fogs, with a shore line of over two thousand miles in length, with water so deep and free from rocks that the largest vessels can be up in safety to the trees which line the shore. At the same time this immense harbor is surrounded by a rich, fertile soil, capable of supporting a population as great as that of the New England and Middle States, together with unlimited forests of the finest timber for ship-building and for lumber, with extensive coal and iron mines and fisheries, and immense quarries of granite and limestone, and an unlimited water power, and everything which goes to build up and sustain a great commercial centre.

Previous to the purchase of Alaska, San Francisco was considered about the center of our possessions on the Pacific. But, with the acquisition of Walrussia, the Straits of Juan de Fuca are no longer on our no thwest, but we have an extensive sea coast, reaching 1,000 miles to the north, and San Francisco comes to be the only center of commerce for the Pacific coast, whilst Puget Sound becomes the geographical center.

It is urged by many that San Francisco, having such great wealth centered in and around her, and being the great commercial entrepot of the Pacific, and having the start of Puget Sound, that no point can ever rise on its waters to importance. What does history teach us on this subject? How many cities have arisen and fallen to ruin on the shores of the Mediterranean, and given place to other cities, century after century. And on our own Atlantic seaboard, New York was not always the great metropolis of the Atlantic.

The time was when Newport, in Rhode Island, was the commercial mistress of our thirteen colonies, and New York did not become the first until after a struggle of more than one hundred years.

Show me the spot that Nature has pointed out as fitted for the seat of commerce, and I will show you the point where the enterprise of the American people will found a great city and establish a great commerce. It is simply a question of time.

The lumber trade alone of Puget Sound is already quite an item, and has but fairly commenced. Last year the amount shipped in lumber, spars, and piles amounted in measurement to 400,000,000 feet. The spars find their way to almost every port in the civilized world, and this trade must increase in value each year, as we find on the shores of Puget Sound and Alaska the two last great forests in the world accessible to commerce.

There are two termini provided in the charter of the Northern Pacific Railroad on the Pacific coast—one at Puget Sound and the other at Portland, Oregon.

Leaving Puget Sound, going east the route passes up the divide of the Cascade range on a very moderate grade to the Snoqualmie Pass at an elevation of 3,020 feet, nearly 4,100 feet less than where the Central road crosses the Sierra Nevada, and crosses the summit at a distance of 78 miles from Seattle.

On this section there are fine agricultural lands, timber and coal, and on the eastern slope of the Cascades there are known to exist large beds of coal, and rich deposits of gold all the way to the British possessions. From the summit level there will be an easy grade to the head of the Yakima, and down its valley for 110 miles to the crossing of the Columbia.

In the valley of the Yakima there are some of the finest agricultural lands to be found in Washington territory—where the settlers have raised good corn, and a climate so mild in winter that it has been

Choosing Between Parties

It is impossible that there should not exist among members of the same political party some difference of opinion in regard to the wisdom of some of the measures which the party from time to time adopts The question to be decided in such cases is Which party more nearly represents the whole sum of measures and principles which the citizen approves and desires to uphold? In the Republican party, for example there are considerable numbers of able and earnest men who oppose the tariff system and strenuously advocate the doctrines of free trade disagreeing on this subject with a majority of their party But they are men of patriotic impulses and national views, and do not turn their backs on their party because they find themselves unable to agree with it in this one particular They cannot go to the so called Democracy, for the reason that they can have no sympathy with the views of that party on questions of far greater importance than any controversy about the relative merits of protection and free trade They approve far more of the principles of the Republican party than the Democratic, and hence they adhere to the former organization. This example may illustrate other cases There are some who may doubt the wisdom of a part of the legislation which Congress has adopted for the restoration of the rebel States or there may be some other measures of the party which they do not wholly approve But notwithstanding any differences of opinion which may arise on subjects of this kind, let any man who was true to the country during its great trial ask himself whether the Union party is not, after all, more worthy of confidence and support than is the party which showed itself unfaithful in that momentous crisis The standard of the Union party is the symbol of our nationality, it represents the idea of national unity, of established authority in government, of indestructible national power The standard of the opposition party represents the destructive ideas which have so nearly wrecked the country,—State authority and the subordination of the National Government to State control Between these parties the citizen must choose There is no half way ground between them And though there may be, and necessarily must be some who do not approve of every measure of the Union party, let them ask themselves what they or the country have to gain by rejecting this party of tried principles and approved fidelity to the country, and placing in power those whose principles are notoriously dangerous to the public peace and inimical to the very principles on which a national government is founded The Union party doubtless has its imperfections, but shall we be such fools as to call in an enemy to the substance of any system to remove its corruptions, to supply its defects or perfect its construction?

In the Senate of the United States on the 20th of December, 1866, George E Pugh, a Democratic Senator from Ohio, made a speech on "the state of the Union," in which he argued against the employment of force as a means of national pacification. Referring to the seceded States, he said: "Suppose we conquer them, all of them, disperse the Conventions and Legislatures by arms is that maintaining the Union? I think not. I think the Union would be at once necessarily destroyed. We should have so much territory as our conquered provinces, we should have so many provinces, and, if we spared their lives so many helpless subjects, but we should certainly have overthrown the GOVERNMENTS of the States" Yet the Democratic party now denies that the State governments were overthrown or impaired by the war, and the mere mention of the term "conquered provinces" is enough to throw them into a fever of indignation But at that time no member dissented from the position of Senator Pugh, and it was one of their most common arguments against the war policy that it would result in the overthrow of the State governments and the reduction of the States to the condition of "conquered provinces"

Speaking of the late election in Arkansas, and the probability of the immediate readmission of that State, the San Francisco Times says "The Copperhead papers, with their usual disregard for truth, will of course assert that the Arkansas victory was gained wholly by black votes To disprove the lie before they utter it, we may as well cite some figures The Republican majority is given at 30,000 The registry returns show over 33,000 white voters and about 20 000 colored According to the course of 1860 the white males in the State over twenty numbered 73 696, the black males over twenty, 25,044 Comment is unnecessary."

The Albany Journal charges that the apologist for Andrew Johnson "evades the true issue in every possible form The question is not, as to what powers over their Cabinets former Presidents have had, but has he who now holds that office transcended the powers he possesses The question is not, whether Johnson has simply acted as Washington, Jefferson or Jackson might have acted, but whether he has not done that which neither of them could or would endeavor to do, did they now fill the Executive chair and were governed by existing statutes"

The Concord (N H) Patriot, Democratic organ sums up the result of the late election in that State, and says it has disappointed everybody The Democrats confidently expected to reduce the Radical majority to a small figure and hoped only to win, the Radicals feared defeat, and hoped only to escape it by the skin of their teeth! To say that we are disappointed, that our friends are disappointed, does not begin to express their feelings They feel the result to be a just cause for sadness"

A strolling suggestion is made in a prominent eastern journal It is to the effect that our political campaigns should be conducted on the basis of facts! It is very evident that this suggestion was not made in the interest of such politicians as Rev Chadband Smith Of course the Democracy will indignantly frown down any attempt of this kind on the part of the abolitionists to take an unfair advantage of them

Amusing—to hear those who praise Andrew Johnson as the ablest of statesmen and the most exemplary of men, and who threaten revolution in case he, the nation's last hope," is convicted by the Senate, in the same breath denounce Grant as a drunkard unworthy of the nation's confidence and incapable of any public business whatever

Ad interim of the Herald don't like Ben Wade thinks he is not a man of sufficient urbanity and polish to be President of the United States! Therefore Ad interim is strongly in favor of retaining the present remarkably able editor in the undisturbed occupancy

W F Parris a member of the legislature for Marion county, died at Salem on Sunday morning

Divided Counsels

Horatio Seymour is extremely likely to be the Democratic candidate for the Vice Presidency His prominent position in that party makes him an authority to it if any man can claim that distinction It is well known that the New York Democracy, and indeed the entire party in all the States east of Ohio have repudiated the Pendleton greenback scheme, creating a divided counsel in the ranks of the party on the subject of the currency The speech delivered by Seymour at the Democratic State Convention at Albany wherein the Pendleton proposition was denounced as a fraud upon the business interests and that ruining men of the country was noticed in the telegraph report some weeks ago The full report of the speech, which is now at hand, contains some things which it is worth the while of the advocates of the Pendleton policy who are making so much noise in this State to reflect upon We quote a paragraph or two for the purpose of showing the position of the Eastern Democrats on this important question Pendleton offers the bond holders greenbacks Seymour says they shall have gold, while Jo Smith to settle the difference proposes to offer both Seymour said

I deem it my duty to speak frankly on the subject of the debt We owe it to our friends in the other States to let them know our position so that we may not fall into the fatal error of making a sectional question part of our national platform We deeply regret that our position should be construed in any quarter, but we cannot lower our standard We will not betray those who come up to its support It is enough that honor forbids this, even if we could stoop to aught that is less than honorable Even policy would dictate that this great State should be bold firm and steadfast in the position, if we hope to save the country from the dangers which menace it Some hold that it is right and as due to the tax payers that we should save what we could by paying the principal of the debt in currency but they underrate their own argument It is a mistake to suppose that the interests of bondholders and tax payers are antagonistic The fact is overlooked that in order to make any saving by giving the bond holder a worthless paper, we would spring upon ourselves a disaster and dishonor which will cost a hundred fold what we can save It means that we are to give to the laborer for his toil a base currency It means that the honor of our country shall be stained, that our business shall be kept in uncertainty and confusion, that the laboring man shall suffer by the increased cost of the comforts of life, that tax payers shall be burdened by a Government proved to be corrupt by the very depreciation of its money We can't afford to speculate upon the nation's honor, at so fearful a cost If we come into power there will be no discredit upon our currency, no speculations in paying our bonds in paper

I thank God, the faith with which we all hold to one man, seeks to level up, not to level down While, therefore, we may differ as to the construction of a contract with a public creditor, we must not confound the position of those who think it right to pay paper, but who hasten to make that paper as good as gold, with the position of those who do not mean to pay only, but who are destroying the value of that paper That is repudiation We are not trying to give paper to the bond-holder, but gold and silver to the people

Buchanan said in his last annual message that the Government had no power to coerce a seceding State, Lane stood up in the Senate in 1861, and argued in favor of secession and against coercion, every prominent Democrat in the country opposed the war on the ground that it was unconstitutional to coerce the obedience of sovereign States, and the entire party held and advocated the same doctrine during the four years war Will any of their journals or speakers state now whether they endorse this doctrine or condemn it, whether they approve or disapprove the position taken by James Buchanan and the leaders of their party in regard to the power of the Government to enforce its authority against a State which assumes to withdraw from the Union? The people have a right to demand an answer to these questions Will the Democratic oracles speak out?

When Judge Chase was impeached in 1804, the article on which he came so near being convicted was that wherein he was accused of making a disgraceful harangue, which the article declared was "highly censurable in any person, but peculiarly indecent and unbecoming in one occupying a high official position" A majority of the Senators voted to convict Chase on this article The article against Johnson, reported by Butler, adopts the phraseology of the Chase article as a precedent. The language used by Johnson is so much more violent, unbecoming and indecent than anything attributed to Chase, that there is abundant ground for his conviction and removal from office on this charge alone.

When the Union party is beaten at the ballot box it does not revolt, but redoubles its efforts to secure the triumph of its principles in a legal, constitutional way And when the Democratic party revolts after being beaten at the ballot box, the Union party accepts the challenge to arms and whips into submission those who would introduce the Mexican system in our Government.

The San Francisco Dispatch, a Democratic paper, holds it to be indisputable that "the Government has no power to coerce a State" Just what the Democracy of Oregon hold, hence their reaffirmance of the "time honored principles"

The Union party of Nevada have appointed delegates to the National Union Convention, and instructed for Grant for President The resolutions sustain and demand the removal of Johnson from the Presidential office.

Dr J W Watts will address the Union Club at Monmouth on the 24th inst, at one o'clock, and the Club at Eola on the day following at the same hour.

The Troubles at Owyhee

The Mountaineer publishes the following extracts from a letter from Owyhee, dated on April 2d

We have had a civil war raging here for the last three weeks, the battle ground being on the mountain I did not get to see any of it, but those who were engaged in it say that it was a desperate affair In this engagement, on the mountain there were two men killed and two wounded one of whom they think cannot live The names of the mining companies between which the battles were fought were the Golden Chariot Co, owned by Hill Beachy, Grayson and others and the Ida Elmore Co owned by Fogus, Wilson, Carter and others The Beachy and Grayson Co got the best of the fight, and effected a compromise to suit themselves, which was made last Monday There was fighting men shipped in here from all parts of Idaho by both parties, and were paid as high as fifty dollars per day Henry rifles sold as high as $150 each a piece during the hottest of the war Since the compromise has been effected, the Fogus party (that is, their fightists) have been dissatisfied and lying around the saloons drinking and apparently trying to get up a muss in town and they effected it last night The row commenced about eight o'clock, at Beachy's stage office the other party going there for that purpose A man named Fisher fired the first shot (or rather such is the report now) taking effect in the arm of Samuel Lockhart, and then several shots were fired by both parties Marion Moore, the partner of Fogus, was shot through the body and died to day at one o'clock Fisher was shot through the hip, but not dangerously The shot that Lockhart received in the arm is very slight only a flesh wound The excitement of the original war brought the Governor, the U S. Marshal, and several others to this place, in order to try and stop the trouble But they could do nothing as long as the battle continued under ground, (for you must know the fighting was done in the mine 100 feet below the surface) but as soon as the riot began down town, he showed his authority, and quelled it

Marion Moore is to be taken to Idaho City for burial Everything is quiet just at the present time but no telling how long it will remain so

THE OLD TIMES.—Somebody has contributed a very readable article on the Dalles of almost "twenty years ago," from which we extract: "Here at the Dalles was the ... place. Here he could recruit at his exhausted stores, his temporary home. Yes, when we reach the Dalles." Here friends and companions, who had stood nobly by each other through all the vicissitudes of a long and tedious journey of months, ofer the then much dreaded plains, have by the heartfelt adieus, have pressed each other's hand and separated—one to follow the Mt. Hood road over the mountains to the Willamette, and the other to slide down the rapid Columbia, as the easier route.

... each man of us, as we see the noble steamers of the O. R. Co. leave the Dalles in the morning, and return on the next day, will waste a thought upon the little pile of steamer James P. Flint, that piled between the Dalles and Cascades, seventeen years ago! Who recollects the sobbing master, Captain Van Bergen, and the ... sobbing, and much more valuable purser and ... Watkins, and the gentlemanly engineer, ... They are all gone"—Where? Let the echo ... Where are the hardy and bold men who buffeted ... rough waves of the Columbia, in whale ... carrying freight and passengers, in up ... in the James P. Flint? They too are gone ... there is no, the pioneer of pioneers, who built the ... near the Dalles, not occupied by military or ... and who transported—after the Hudson Bay ... company—the first granite by boat to the Cascades! ... had departed! On this earth he will be seen no ...

The transportation ... almost supplies soon became an inducement to ... capital in more substantial craft for its convey... and steamers were built, but yet destined to give ... to others of larger dimensions. In 1852 the attention ... the emigrants was first called to the fact that the ... was to be found in a place where capital could be ... invested in trade. THE FIRST ORMOND SHOVEL.—The Willamette Iron ... yesterday, turned out a long-handled shovel—... the miners generally use—manufactured ... of the finest material, upon the order of Mr. Samuel ... and to be used in breaking ground for the Or... Railroad, (east side) on Thursday. The iron ... from the Oswego works, was puddled at the Willamette Iron Works and the job, under the hammer, there being no such thing in this country as a rolling mill. The ... of Oregon manufactured in this city, and ... in mills out. The difficulties of puddling the iron and doing such a job, have not been few and little will therefore be thought of a somewhat expensive job, in the various stages of its manufacture, every ... and about the works has had something to do ... nothing more than to fasten a rivet. Mr. ... the first blacksmith, by trade a regular ... blacksmith, did the puddling and the shaping of the blade. He turned his trade at Springfield till ... and, judging from this job, learned it well. He ... the honor of making the first shovel ever made of ... iron. ... of the Dalles.—During last week, the Willamette Iron Works employed Mr. ... to drive one of the patent wells or rather ... which we mentioned some days ago, as a late issue ... The pipe was started under the machine shop ... two or three feet of the river's edge. ... The steamship Active is, it is rather to run between Victoria. There is an impression here that the George S. Wright is designed to ply in the same route, though we know of no one authorized to say that it will be her destination. The Victoria Colonist says: "The steamer George S. Wright has been purchased by Messrs. Kamm and Tarbell, and will be put on the Puget Sound route, carrying the mails twice a week." The Colonist is not, however, more likely to know anything about the matter than people here. ... gentlemen, generally, the Colonist ... HEBREW BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION.—At the meeting of the First Hebrew Benevolent Association, held Sunday, April 12th, 1868, at the Turn Verein Hall, the following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, David Friedenrich; Vice President, Levy White; Recording Secretary, Isaac N. Walter; Financial Secretary, Chas Fishel; Treasurer, David Hildburgh; Trustees, Sol. Hirsh, Philip Wasserman, B. Goldsmith, L. H. Lewis, Isaac Rosenfeldt.

CONCERT PROGRAMME.—The programme for the fifth concert by the Philharmonic Society appears this morning. Of the four concerts heretofore given by this Society, two have been benefits to public or charitable purposes and the Society now has a claim upon the public for its support in this concert for its own benefit.

CONCERT AT VANCOUVER.—Mrs. Wood, the accomplished vocalist, left this city yesterday afternoon for Vancouver, where she will give a concert this evening. We strongly advise our Vancouver friends to go and hear her, as it is a rare treat an opportunity is offered to hear natural, fine singing such as Mrs. Wood's.

MEETING OF COMMITTEES.—The Committees of the various Military and Engine companies who have accepted the invitation to attend the breaking of ground for the Oregon Central railroad, are requested to meet at 10 o'clock this morning in the Railroad office, Parrish's building.

THE NEW COLUMBIAN SALE.—The Sheriff's sale of furniture at the New Columbian Hotel, yesterday, went off very briskly. Articles sold almost as high as the cost of new, and the aggregate sum realized was much larger than any reasonable sum could have anticipated.

PASSAGE.—The steamship Continental brought up 850 tons merchandise, and the Active brought 137 tons for Portland, and 40 or 50 tons for Victoria.

PATONS.—We are under obligations to S. J. McCormick for late papers, magazines and pictorials, received per steamer Continental.

TO SAIL.—The Active will sail for Victoria probably to-morrow, and the Continental to San Francisco about Thursday.

I'll never more be good
But I'll go and be a robber fierce
And live in a dreary wood

And live in a dreary wood

It climbed a tree to its nest
Of young a tender sea
But the branch it took off and the tree it took
With an iron and steel howls
Howls howls howls
With an tremendous howls

Then up it rose and scratched to nose
And went home very sad
When their dear beheld me here

Repeal of the Taxes on Manufactures

The intelligence that the bill repealing internal revenue taxes on manufactures has become a law in the best piece of news we have had from Washington for some time and will cause a general feeling of relief throughout the country Since its introduction in the Senate various amendments have been made to the bill As it finally passed we believe it repeals all taxes upon manufactures, except those imposed upon spirits tobacco, gas, spices and some other articles of luxury the tax on petroleum is reduced one half and in lieu of the taxes previously collected on articles now exempted a tax of two dollars per thousand on the sales of manufacturers amounting to over five thousand dollars in one year is levied This amounts to one-fifth of one per cent an immense reduction on the five per cent tax which has heretofore been collected The new law is to go into effect on the first of next month

The effect of the repeal of these onerous taxes will be seen in an immediate and marked increase of prosperity throughout the country Manufactured goods will be cheapened to the consumer while the producer will find a much larger demand and be able to make a larger profit The demand for labor will mean wages in the manufacturing districts will appreciate from the starvation point to which the hard times have forced them, and though a profitable source of revenue has thus been cut off the country will be many hundred million dollars richer for it by this time next year

In the original bill the tax on sales was fixed at one twentieth of one per cent and this rate has probably been increased as some little concession to Secretary McCulloch, who stated that the repeal of the tax on manufactures would create an immense deficit in the Treasury Yet, notwithstanding the fact that this law together with the law repealing the gold tax, will relieve tax-payers to the amount of eighty or ninety millions there is no necessity whatever for a deficit The appropriations for all departments have been very largely reduced, and, if anything like a decent attempt to collect the taxes on whisky and tobacco is made, one hundred millions additional can easily be raised from these sources So long as President Johnson remains in his position it is hopeless to expect such an attempt, but it is morally certain that his rule will last but a few weeks longer and that with the income of Mr Wade the present swing of "my policy" whisky plunderers will be broken up, and the immense revenue which is now diverted to purposes of private gain and public demoralization be turned into the Treasury

Now, that the burdensome taxes on manufacturing have been repealed the next thing needed is a revision of the tariff For some time we can hope for no considerable reduction in the aggregate amount now collected by the present system of taxation, but a simplification and adjustment of the duties, so that raw material and articles of necessity will be exempted as much as possible will relieve producers without lessening the yield from customs Upon this subject a very noticeable advance in public sentiment within the year can be seen At the last session of Congress the manufacturers of the Atlantic States sought to obtain relief by an increase of the tariff at this session they sought protection by a diminution of imposts They have now succeeded and we hope to see the same principle carried further, even at the present session. Congress should lose no time in repealing or at least modifying the income tax —N Y Times

ASSAULT OF SHERMAN —When General Sherman was at Atlanta preparing for his famous "march to the sea" an order was promulgated directing all citizens to leave Atlanta (N Y or South) within twelve days The day of [illegible] a negro man entered Sherman's headquarters and inquired for the General She[illegible] The colloquy was very near ly as follows:

"Citizen General, I am a Northern man from [illegible] of Connecticut, have been living at Atlanta nearly six years, have accumulated a considerable property here, and as I see you have ordered all citizens to leave within twelve days, I have come to see if you can make an exception in my case. I fear, if I leave my property will be buried

General Sherman—What kind of property do you own, sir? Perhaps I will make an exception in your case

Citizen—I own a block of stores three stories high, a plantation two miles out of town and a factory.

General Sherman—Foundry, oh! What have you been doing with your foundry?

Citizen—Have been making castings

General Sherman—What kind of castings shot and shell, and all that kind of thing?

Citizen—Yes, sir, I have made some shot and shell.

General Sherman—You have been making shot and shell to destroy your country, have you? And you still claim favor on account of being a Northern man! Yes, sir, I will make an exception in your case, you shall go South to-morrow morning at sunrise. Adjutant, see that this man is provided out Orderly, show this man out

Citizen But, General, can't I go North?

General Sherman—No, sir Too many of your people there already, sir"

THE LAST FRIEND OF THE SOUTH —The following is from the Washington Chronicle of March 9th.

When Andrew Johnson is appealed to by such of his friends as dare to admonish him against his headlong assaults upon the National Legislature and the laws of the land—and we are glad to hear that he has some, such out spoken counselors—he flies into a passion and tells them that he must go that he is the last friend of the South What he means by this stereotyped expression is that he has become the champion of the rebels and that without him they are lost History will assign a different role to our Accidental President He will be recorded in its unfading pages not as the last friend but as the worst enemy of the people of the South But for him the Radical Congress would long since have reorganized their governments their society their trade. All that was necessary for him was to be as true to the freedmen as he pledged himself to be and the whole white population to-day, with very few exceptions would be more enfranchised and more prosperous than at any period of their existence. His declaration that he is the last friend of the South, however, sounds very much like his promise to be the best friend of the negro And it threatens to have as fatal a termination Congress must interpose in the one case as it has in the other and save the whites as it has the blacks For if there is any one proposition clearer than another it is that the man who made the war cannot restore the government That work must be done by those who wrought the rescue of the Republic, and any Democratic success is simply a postponement of the day of complete and lasting redemption

WHO OPPOSE IMPEACHMENT —A Washington dispatch says:

The principal opponents of impeachment here are be office seekers whose schemes are entirely marred the Pres dent not having time to attend to their demands or listen to their pet tions They lounge around the hotels and bar rooms loudly inveigh against Congress and the impeachers and many of them have gone home in despair A best New York office holders among them Collector Smythe, are in town looking after impeachment and probable chances of conviction Some of the most influential are endeavoring to hedge so as to retain their places under the new administration"

A MIXTURE OF RACES Copperhead speakers and writers are constantly holding up the degeneracy of mixed races as an argument against the complete disenthrallment of the freedmen of the South Let us hear them say how that miscegenation never went on faster than under the patriarchal institution and that it gave the blacks equal rights is the surest way of cultivating among them a self respect which will forbid any mixture of races Thurlow Weed recently indulged through the [illegible] of a letter in a solemn warning against the Radical policy as calculated to produce a letteration of the Union which Parker Pillsbury in the Revolution thus talks to him

This is solemnly uttered in rebuke of what is considered the radical policy, that would make equal voters in the South (not in the North of black men and white But had this device been as scrupulous about 'mixture of colors and races' thirty or forty years ago, which he was a leader in the old Whig party he might have been spared his present mortification and saved the country from calamity that half a century cannot restore, Heathen ever such confounding of colors and races as in the South? Such utter defiance of all wholesome rule of race, or lack of God? Every sixth house a brothel! Every sixth woman a victim of legalized lust! Not one lawful marriage among all the millions of slaves! Not one And neither law public opinion education nor religion to prevent a concubinage before which Mormonism might blush and Turkish seraglios be ashamed The Whig party supported the system The Democratic party did the same So did the Republican party from the day of its birth till the sun of the system set in blood The Government wants shield and buckler And the church North South East West in every great popular denomination, organization and society, sanctified it in the name of the Bible and the so-called Christian religion! If this healthy horror of conglomerate races had broken out long ago on the surface of the venerable editor of the Advertiser he and the nation might have been spared much of the present grief and myriads of slaves a perdition of woes

CONNECTICUT Of course, the Democracy are making a great fuss over the result of the Connecticut election but it is only to hide the fact of their defeat Their candidate for Governor has been elected by an increased majority it is true but the Republicans have gained both branches of the Legislature and have increased their majority in both They have three in the Senators and ten more Representatives—a clear gain of thirteen on joint ballot So that, after all the election in Connecticut has really resulted in a Republican victory—English getting into office with a handsome vote solely by reason of his personal popularity He is a man of integrity and ability—about such a man as Governor Dwight—and has made friends even among his political opponents by his course while in office He was supported by many avowed Union men solely on those grounds, and his re-election is to be taken as an expression of confidence in a faithful public servant, and not as indicating the views of a majority of the people on national politics The political status of Connecticut is shown by her Legislature and this is most satisfactory The Republican majority in the new Legislature insures the election of a Union man to the United States Senate, to take the place of the Democrat Dixon, whose term expires next year. The only practical result of this Democratic "victory" will, therefore be to substitute a Republican for a Copperhead in the United States Senate A few more such victories and there will be nothing left of the party —N Y Times

SOUTHERN RECUPERATION —It is a healthful sign to see the Southern newspapers coming around to advocate the policy of personal effort as a means of political and financial redemption A number of influential journals are bodily recommending that white men, instead of loafing around corner groceries and whining about the refusal of the negroes to work, should go to work themselves Cotton planted by white hands will grow as well and yield as much as that cultivated by ebony Christians If the white men in the Southern States who have spent the last three years in idle complaining had devoted even half their wasted time to honest labor, there would have been no complaint of poverty, little bankruptcy and no suffering Even the freedmen, inspired by the good example, would have emulated old masters in industry and thrift

A DEMOCRATIC MAGAZINE —In the March number of the Old Guard, which advertises itself as the only Democratic magazine in the United States," we find a companion piece to the late threat of assassination proclaimed in the Wisconsin Democratic organ A full page appears blank, across its face only endorsed in bold letters, "a message from God to usurpers and dictators" with a reference to the third chapter of the Book of Judges, in which is told the story of the assassination of Eglon King of Moab by Ehud

President Harrison appointed Tom Ewing to his Cabinet and died in one month President Tayloy appointed him to his Cabinet and died in six months. And now Andy wants him! But it is pleasant to know that the Senate will have mercy upon him and deny his request It has no desire to kill him off in any such roundabout way

At the late Minnesota Democratic State Convention a resolution was introduced in which A. Johnson was indorsed in his struggle with Congressional usurpations and pledging the Democracy to stand by him The resolution, after a long and bitter debate, was rejected

OF WHICH THE ABOVE IS AN ILLUSTRATION Has FOUR SETS OF BUCKETS AND USES THREE FOURTHS OF THE WATER TWICE

The old high price of [illegible] and unreliable wheel has been rejected entirely for the original mode by Mr H Kelly and I assure all and the public to see what he says as to its capacity [illegible] wheels in the following testimonials over his own signature

MR H W SHIPLEY Sir In reply to your inquiry as to how I like your Turbine Wheel I have to say that I have used no other and if I can feel what is [illegible] 15 horse power when I ordered you 15 inch wheel if the 12 inch Leffell wheel you furnished it worked the machinery like a top using 32 ft of water in the flume the 15 inch Leffell [illegible] At your request I have recently taken out one-eighth of an inch Boards of an inch depth, without in the least slackening the speed After the strength tests of both wheels I am satisfied that your wheel with gates one-eighth of an inch open gives as much power as the Leffell with gates one-third open At half gate your wheel gives double the power of the Leffell at half gate As full gate the power of yours exceeds that of the Leffell by from ten to twelve per cent At quarter gate, the Leffell holds no comparison with yours at quarter gate.

Yours &c

THE MOST PERFECT AND UNEQUALLED AND UNRIVALLED in the United States or the world have been fully tested on this coast during the past season and during all kinds of water and by Saw Mills Flouring Mills Woolen Factories &c &c

The following is from the Springfield Republic

Trial of Water Wheels.

Messrs Jonathan Child and John A McCreight who are about setting a mill building with a double set of Burr's Patent Flouring Mill machinery in Springfield Vt procured a trial between the Leffel Double Turbine and the Welch & Burns Wheel The following report of the Committee shows the result of the trial

Springfield Vt Oct 31 1867

This is to certify that on the 29th and 30th days of October 1867 in company with Mr Stacy Civil Engineer of Westminster we carefully tested the amount of water used in trial between the Patent Leffel Turbine and the 10 inch Welch & Burns Water Wheels made by Joel the Blakeslee & Baker made at Weimer's mill near West Mill in Marlboro Vt The contract requiring the latter to make with ⅛ gates and ⅜ gates with the same amount of water for each wheel The amount of grinding was superintended by Mr Charles Morgan, who will report the results

The amount of water used in the tests as measured by myself and Mr Stacy is as follows

	C ft per min
At ⅛ gate the Leffel Wheel used	88 224
The Welch & Burns used	84 224
At ⅜ gate the Leffel Wheel used	112 128
Welch & Burns used	11 523

The grinding was continued for one hour each test
WILLIAM BROWN
Civil E gineer
S S STACEY

Having been chosen by both parties to determine the amount of grain ground by each of the above-mentioned wheels the result was as follows

The Leffel Wheel at ⅛ gate ground	256 lbs
The Welch & Burns at ⅛ gate ground	56½ lbs
The Leffel Wheel at ⅜ gate ground	411½ lbs
The Welch & Burns at ⅜ gate ground	193 lbs
